Update on Urgent Care Centre selection - Central QLD & Wide Bay regions

The Australian Government is supporting Medicare Urgent Care Clinics to be established in general practices where possible to support the growth of, and to optimise the use of the general practice workforce. While alternative models will be considered, where there are no suitable general practices, the policy is for preference to be given to general practice models in the first instance.

CCQ is pleased to announce a significant step forward in the process, with eligible general practices in the Rockhampton and Bundaberg regions invited to participate in the Expression of Interest phase, following the initial Registration of Interest (ROI) process in late February.

CCQ remains committed to keeping the community informed about the progress and outcome of this important community initiative and will provide further updates once the successful centres have been awarded and announced.
