Are you looking for ways to further develop your skills and knowledge in chronic disease management?

APNA's CDMHA program is designed for nurses with an intermediate-level knowledge of chronic disease management. It provides an evidence-based education framework focused on conditions such as cardiovascular health and diabetes mellitus.

The six-month program includes monthly workshops, access to online learning and peer support through our Community of Practice.

CDMHA is supported by the Australian Government and costs just $220 for both members and non-members.
